

Interior Design Principles In A Nutshell

A house will feel like your home only after adorning it as per your preferences and lifestyle. The image of the owner among other people often depends on the interior design and decoration of the house and it is critical to be careful about these things.

Coming up with ideas for an interior design that is functionally superior and pleasant at the same time is not very difficult. There are several interior design guides that are available in the market alongside many agencies, which specialize in this kind of work. However if you plan to do the designing yourself, here are a few points that will help you out.

The first step is to select a theme that goes well with your tastes and preferences. Try to focus on a theme that you consider to uniquely reflect your persona. For example, you can choose a modern interior design, which uses space carefully or a more conventional and sumptuous European style woodwork design, which will give the house a classical look.

Selection of the colours should be according to the overall look of the house. Use more vivid colours if the house is small and gets less natural light. If you like shades which are dark then you can make use of artificial light through lamps to give a shadowy feel to your house.

The furniture has to be according to your taste but it must also take into account your particular needs. If you live in a small house then you should use foldable and versatile furniture which will serve many requirements without taking up too much space. If your home is bigger then you do not need to be concerned about the size of the furniture, but never forget the functionality aspects.

The bed sheets, carpets, drapes and curtains must all be chosen with care to match with the overall look and feel of the interiors. Remember that you must always be careful and thoughtful in designing your house as otherwise it would be counter-productive for your reputation.
